DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on June 30, 2003 has been entered.

Allowable Subject Matter

The indicated allowability of claims 1,4,10-12,17-20 and 31-34 is withdrawn in view of the newly discovered reference(s) to Yamazaki et al. Rejections based on the newly cited reference(s) follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 3,6,13-16, 24-26 and 35-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 3 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential elements, such omission amounting to a gap between the elements. See MPEP § 2172.01. The omitted elements are: no structure has been recited for shielding the lens.

Regarding claims 3 and 13,

It is not clear within the claim language, what applicant refers to as "outer side", since the structural arrangement of the cylindrical lenses have not been clearly defined.

It is clear within the claim language, how is the lens shielded?

It is not clear within the claim language, what the lens is shielded from?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1,2,7,9,10-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yamazaki et al.

Regarding claims 1,2,7,9,10,12,17,21,27,31,

Figure 2A of Yamazaki et al illustrates a laser system for irradiating a semiconductor substrate having a laser (201), cylindrical lens group (202) and (203) for dividing the laser beam, a cylindrical lens (204) for combining the divided beams and slit, which will provide the laser beam with edges, as described in the abstract and paragraph [0032] – [0035] and figure 11A illustrates the substrate. Figure 2A illustrates the output beam as having a width wider than the cylindrical lens.

Yamazaki does not disclose positioning the slit between the cylindrical lens and the laser source.

However, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to arrange the slit within the laser system, since providing the slit at any position within the laser system the slit will provide the laser beam with edges, thereby the invention would perform equally well and irradiate the semiconductor film.

Regarding claims 4-6,8 and 11,

Yamazaki et al does disclose a cylindrical lens (204) and (206) for combining the divided beams.

Regarding claims 19,22,29,33,

Figure 9 illustrates the cylindrical lens (204) as a convex lens, as it is commonly known in the art.

Regarding claims 18,28,32,

The use of a slit made of metal is notoriously well known in the art.

Regarding claims 20,23,24,

It is well known in the art to use an excimer laser or YAG laser, which provide a harmonic wave for irradiating a substrate, as disclosed by Shirashi et al in column 26.
